Figure Fixers

To trim thighs

Self-conscious about extra pounds below? "A line waist camouflages weight and brings eyes upward to the neck and face," says stylist Kaylee Sanders. "Keep colors and patterns muted, though. Bold prints will make a pear shape look bigger." Straps should be high enough to give support to a larger chest. "The Empire waist should fall right under the bust -- no looses."

Expert tips

- Try a tie-neck halter. It's a great way to highlight sculpted shoulders.
- Make sure the hem falls below the ankles and above the toes.
- Have fun with wedges and staps. Maxi dresses are long enough to stand up to chunky heels.
